Impressions of the Carnival

Community Effort Draws All People Together for Worth-while Objective—Enthusiasm of Many Makes for Success—Ladies Do Their Part.

The general public derive amusement and entertainment at a carnival, for there is always action when a big crowd of people get together. And when it is organized for a community objective, people liberally support it, as evidenced by the cash laid down on the numbers at the various booths, for every one placing a dime but hopes it will win a prize, and if it doesn't, well, they had a moment's thrill anyhow, and the lucky winner is accorded the smiles of the losers.

Even the workers at the stalls derive entertainment as well. It is a departure from everyday routine, and there is a touch of the circus glamor at a carnival, where amateur "barkers" emulate the professionals in trying to induce the hesitant ones to take a chance, and before the night is spent their voices have been given such a rasping they can hardly speak.

Then there are the main prizes, without which a carnival would be complete. These are attractively displayed, in order to induce the hopefuls to buy a ticket, and the more daring take several, so that this is a source of a substantial boost to the carnival funds. Though there are only two main prizes, the premier one being usually, a Chesterfield Suite, more quarters are spent on these than on any other stall, and great is the eager suspense as the tickets are placed in the drum, and after several whirrs, a little girl is picked from the crowd, and, dipping deeply into the drum, pulls out the lucky ticket. The crowd quickly fades away, though a few linger on looking at the prizes and wondering why it is that this certain ticket had to be the winner. But all depart in good humor, and another thrill is ended.

The sporty boys, and some of the females, too, find the Crown and Anchor wheel a source of speculative delight, for this game so popular in the army is no less popular wherever it is played. As the proceeds are used for a legitimate purpose, a little leeway is allowed, and the game proceeds merrily as long as people will place bets on the four aces and the old crown and anchor. One bright youth, of schoolboy age, caused the wheel operators some curiosity as to why he kept on winning, when it was noticed that his elbow was used to fool them, hiding his quarter when his bet didn't win, but if it turned up in his favor, his elbow wasn't hiding his bet. He soon "vamosed" when his little trick was discovered, and was lost in the crowd.

"Housie—Housie" is always popular, some sitting for a couple of hours at a stretch trying to fill their cards, listening to the names called for the numbers, having their hopes raised high as they need only one more to fill the card, when—drat it, someone on the other side calls "Bingo," and hopes are dashed for another brief spasm. But so strong is the gambling instinct inherent in most human hearts, that they stay with it, until too weary to listen further to the barkers calling the numbers, they decide luck is against them, and call it a day—or a night.

The lady workers at a carnival usually turn their efforts towards something more substantial and if you spent ten cents or a quarter at their booths, you get a hot dog, a sandwich, or ice cream and lemonade. Whatever it is, is something that satisfies, and there are no losers. The ladies can always be trusted to take care of the practical things, and they, too, were favored with a good share of business, so that all their work in preparation, and serving the hungry, to say nothing of the cleaning up next day, meets with a worth-while reward in the addition to their funds.

The carnival manager is a busy man, for on him rests the responsibility of purchasing, seeing that booths are manned, that all have sufficient change, that workers are "pepped up" and that collections are made. He must see that all goods issued to booths are accounted for, and also that unsold goods are properly packed at the close of the carnival. It is by the united support of a band of willing workers that a carnival can succeed, for though it only lasts for eight or nine hours so far as the general public is concerned, it has taken weeks of preparation and many hours of hard work laying dance floors, erecting stalls, and doing the manual work which requires willing help engendered with enthusiasm for the cause in which they are working.

A carnival is a great thing to arouse community interest. It demonstrates how much can be accomplished by a band of workers giving their time and energy towards an objective which they may have set for themselves, and though it may interfere with business or home duties, yet it is only by the arousing of this interest in a common community effort that worthwhile things can be attained. And as this is the place where we have our vital interests, in what better way could the time be spent in than contributing towards the upbuilding of local institutions and the improvement of our own town?

The main prizes at the carnival were won by Winnifred Mitchell, of Coleman, with ticket 780, drawn on Saturday night for the choice of electric radio, electric washing machine or handsome range. The winner chose the range.

On Monday night the winner was John Kubik, of Blairmore, with ticket 1201, for the chesterfield suite.

The Legion executive expresses appreciation for the support on the part of the general public, and to the willing band of workers who helped in any way.

Gold Mine Prospects

Mr. I. P. Nielsen has a prospective gold mine near Cranbrook which holds promise of becoming another El Dorado. Recently a nugget was found on the property sufficient to encourage further tests being made for the precious metal, and Mr. Nielsen with a few close friends intends making a trip there during July and making a closer examination of the property to determine what action shall be taken towards developing it.

STEPHEN JANOSTAK COVERED LOTS OF TERRITORY

Considered London Busiest City of Many He Has Visited in His Travels

Stephen Janostak, 22 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Janostak, of the grocery store on Main street, left Coleman on March 11 eastward bound, his destination being the old home of his parents in Czechoslovakia to visit relatives.

Sailing from Halifax, after being held up several days obtaining a passport, which necessitated doubling back to Ottawa, to get a friend to sign, he eventually sailed on the Cunard liner "Aurania," which landed him at Tilbury Docks, London. There Steve saw the sights, one of which was the great monument commemorating the big fire of London over two centuries ago, and which he ascended to obtain a view of what he considers the busiest city he has visited either in the United States or Europe.

After a few days in London he proceeded to Paris, via Dover, and getting a taste of that gay city, he went on to Germany. His only difficulty in making himself understood was in France and Germany but he managed to get along without any hindrance, eventually arriving in Czechoslovakia, whence he wrote to his parents telling of his visit to relatives.

He would have continued eastward, with the intention of making a complete tour of the world, but he had promised to be back here by June 1, so started back for Canada, coming via Belgium to London. A few more days in London, then a trip to Southampton, where he saw the famous liner, the "Queen Mary". Six days were spent at Southampton, he having travelled by motor bus from London through the beautiful English countryside, and he secured passage on the Cunard liner "Ascania" to Montreal. Reaching here on Saturday completed a most interesting trip of little more than two and a half months, and brief though this report is of his travels, Steve says he has much of interest he could tell, and considers the trip of splendid educational value.

THE WATER WAS WARM

A party of young people motored to McBain's lake west of Fernie on Sunday, and one of the gentlemen of the party in trying to impress others with his skill as a balancer on a log, was precipitated into the water to his neck. Clambering out, he was at a loss for clothes to change into. One of the ladies came to the rescue by loaning him her bathing suit and a few other garments of feminine apparel, so that he appeared something like Mahatma Gandhi for the return trip. Fortunately it was quite dark when the party arrived home.

Bank Superintendent to Retire

J. B. Corbet, superintendent of Alberta district of The Canadian Bank of Commerce, will shortly retire, after being in the bank service since 1901, his first branch being at New Westminster, B. C. From 1903 till 1911 he served as auditor in head office, Toronto. In July 1911 he was transferred to Winnipeg and later appointed inspector. On the creation of Alberta district in 1920 his outstanding abilities won him his appointment as superintendent. Many in Coleman will remember having met him when the new building of the local branch of the bank was opened here several years ago.

Rev. Roy C. Taylor to Coaldale

In the list of ministerial changes announced at Edmonton conference of the United church Rev. Roy C. Taylor will move to Coaldale, near Lethbridge, and Rev. H. J. Bevan will come to Coleman from Manville, northeast of Edmonton. It will be four years in September since Mr. and Mrs. Taylor and family came to take charge here.

Death of W. H. Chappell, sr.

Came From England to the Crows Nest Pass in 1906. Funeral at Bellevue.

Old-timers of the Pass towns regret to hear of the death of Wm. H. Chappell, sr., who passed on at the home of his youngest daughter, Mrs. Arthur Hicks, Edmonton, in his 82nd year. Coming to Bellevue in 1906 from England he lived there till 1930, and since then lived in Wetaskiwin and Edmonton. His wife died in 1919.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon at Bellevue United church, burial following in the cemetery there, where his wife and eldest daughter are buried. So another link with the earlier history of the Crows Nest Pass is broken, and the sympathy of a host of friends is extended the family in the passing on of their father and a loyal citizen who played his part in the earlier days here.

Damage Action Against School Board Dismissed

$3700 Claimed for Alleged Injury to Eye by Eraser Thrown by Another Pupil.

A civil action was brought against Coleman School District by Neil Fleming on behalf of his son, a student in Grade IX of the high school, for alleged injury to his right eye caused by being struck by an eraser thrown by another student, while the teacher was absent from the room. It is alleged that this was a common practice when teachers were temporarily absent.

Witnesses from Coleman were Messrs. Arthur Reid, chairman of trustees; J. M. Allan, chairman at the time the injury allegedly was sustained; James Ford, secretary-treasurer of the district; and Principal Hoyle, Miss B. Dunlop, Miss Mae Powell, Miss Gwen Brown, of the teaching staff.

A telephone message received on Tuesday morning stated the case had been dismissed with costs.

Action was commenced last year but the case did not come for trial till Tuesday, when it was heard before Mr. Justice Ives in Supreme Court at Lethbridge.

The school district, it is understood, was insured against claims in the Norwich Union Insurance Co., for which A. M. Morrison is local agent. Mr. Muscovitch, Lethbridge barrister, conducted the case for the plaintiff, Neil Fleming, and G. C. Paterson, barrister of Lethbridge, conducted the defence.

A residence for Mr. and Mrs. Jim Fraser is under construction on Sixth street.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. James Kilgannon on Monday, June 1, a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. George Neil left on Sunday for the coast by car, and expect to return by the end of next week.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

A CARNIVAL is a grand way to get an organization working for an objective, and increases interest among the members. A little help from many can accomplish much, but it is necessary that all work. Drones are merely in the way.

WHEELS OF FORTUNE always turn in favor of the house, but when they turn in a worthy cause, people cheerfully place their money.

JULY FIRST (Dominion Day) is only four weeks distant. Here is an opportunity for Coleman organizations to arrange a sports day and baseball tournament, football matches and sports for the younger folks. Various organizations combining can put on a big day and make a worthwhile celebration among our own people, by our own people. Possibly Frank Creegan and Angelo, local sports "magnates," will rise to the occasion and start the ball rolling.

HISTORY records the death of many propagandist newspapers. For a time while political support keeps them alive, they manage to get along, but inevitably they pass away and are forgotten. Newspapers can only exist when based on sound business principles and operated as business enterprises. Many papers published for political purposes have just been sinkholes for money.

ORIGINALITY as well as variety is the spice of life. That is why change always appeals to people. It is also why news is always eagerly looked for, even the news of the various little incidents of our community. IT is Why The Journal is always looked for as a regular weekly visitor, not only to Coleman people, but to many who having lived here have moved to other parts of the world.

PREMIER ABERHART has been unfair in his attitude towards newspapers before and since his election. One of the first moves against them following election was to take steps to eliminate liquor advertising. After telling the Alberta brewing interests he would save them money by forbidding advertising he made up for this soft-soaping of the brewers by putting an extra tax on their products. His stand on the moral influence of liquor advertising was a mere camouflage whereby he might increase government revenue at the expense of the newspapers.

HIS ATTITUDE has been inconsistent in various other methods of taxation. His promises that there would be no increased taxation have proved to be more easily broken than pie-crusts, and sanctity of contracts has been totally disregarded. Social Credit dividends are as far off as ever, and there is a probability that Mr. Aberhart will return to the school room, for the longer he remains in office, the more bewildered he appears to become.

DROPPING INTO the Empire Hotel [not for an "eye-opener"] but just to look around, we cast our discerning eye around the waiting room, dignified by the name of rotunda in city hotels. There was our old friend, Lord Nelson, known to most people as Mr. Poole, looking as bright and chipper as of yore, and in response to enquiries as to his health, he informed the writer that he was nearly 100 per cent fit. Taking it easy in another corner of the room was "The Count," known on the payroll of McGillivray mine as Eric Bergquist, who has been engaged in rock mining here for several years. Standing up at the counter, one on each side, were two other frequenters playing cribbage. They were reading the caustic writings of Bill Irvine in The Star's Weekly, and his open letters to the premier. The bar was quiet, Bert Westworth quietly surveying the peaceful scene from behind the bar. All was well and all was quiet, very quiet.

SOMETIMES A newspaper in printing the news without prejudice treads on someone's corns. It is not possible to at all times print only the nice things. Unpleasant things at times are recorded in the ordinary course of the week's record, and in an entirely impersonal way. Newspapers cannot pick and choose altogether that which shall be printed; certain things having public interest are recorded in order that no prejudice may be charged against a newspaper, and naturally all may not agree, or a few individuals may imagine they have been singled out for special attention. To blame the newspaper is human, and of course the old chestnut "The paper did not report me correctly" is so well known that it provokes a smile. Usually the newspaper is correct and he who may complain cannot even remember what he said. No fair man in public life ever need fear what the newspapers may report, in fact they welcome the publicity accorded them.

YOU take all the experience and judgment of men over fifty out of the world and there wouldn't be enough left to run it.—Henry Ford.

Grand Forks May Be Distributing Point

Grand Forks is the logical distributing point for air mail in the Interior of British Columbia, and it will likely be the only stopping point for trans-Canada air mail planes between Alberta and Vancouver," said Mayor R. D. MacLaren, manager Canadian Airways in Vancouver, while here for lunch on Monday, May 18, while flying from Winnipeg to Vancouver. He was met at the airport by the Mayor and Geo. D. Clark.

Major MacLaren had been to Ottawa and Montreal on air mail matters and on his way to the coast was making a survey for air mail purposes. He was making the flight in a Stearman with 425-h.p. engine and hopped from Lethbridge to Grand Forks.—Cranbrook Courier.

Social Creditors Hear Duke, Tanner, Taylor

Government's Action Increasing
Taxation Defended by Social
Credit Members at Meeting

About 100 greeted E. O. Duke, member for Rocky Mountain, and N. E. Tanner, member for Cardston and Speaker of the Legislature in the Community hall on Thursday evening. Present on the stage were Rev. Roy C. Taylor, member for Pincher Creek and Rev. A.E. Partington, who was chairman.

Mr. Duke dealt mainly with the progressiveness of the present day as compared with fifty years ago, resulting in the high efficiency in modern industry and its resultant unemployment. He spoke of the fifty per cent reduction on government bonds to 2½ per cent. with a saving to the province of $3,000,000 a year, stating it was a move of which Social Creditors could be justly proud. He apologized for erroneously stating on his previous visit that clothing was exempt from taxation. Mr. Duke had on that occasion praised the government's policy in exempting from tax the necessities of life. He admitted clothing was a necessity but defended the government's action by stating that clothing bought by a person lasted for some time, and was not bought every day such as food; consequently the people would never miss a small sum at time of purchase in tax; this being necessary to help balance the budget.

Mr. Tanner gave an interesting talk on Social services, touching on Hospitalization, Compensation board and Mothers' Allowances. Alberta's default to its bondholders and the causes of the default were discussed at length, the government taking the view that the protection of citizens' homes, in danger of being lost through taxes, was more important than payment of interest on bonds which was absorbing the finances of the province.

He defended the present system of Sales Tax collecting as against that of the Dominion government which, he said, was originally eight per cent but by the time profit had been added to it by manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers it was a 12 per cent tax, while the purchaser only paid the two per cent tax imposed by the province, as he paid it in cash at time of purchase.

Mr. Tanner advocated the purchase of shares in the Calgary Albertan, a sample copy of the paper having been given to each person in the hall, stating were it not for the clear, concise statements given in the Albertan and from its associate radio station concerning problems confronting the government, other mediums in the province would have been successful in their aim to have government ousted from power.

Mr. Taylor, in a heated speech, denounced several members of the United church ministry in condemning Social Credit. Holiday at Banff and Lake Louise

The pleasure of a mile-high holiday in the Canadian Rockies this summer will attract thousands of tourists from all over the world. They will distribute themselves between the Banff Springs Hotel overlooking the rolling peak-surrounded Bow Valley, beautiful Chateau Lake Louise on the shore of the lake of the same name, and six bungalow camps of charm and comfort in settings as lovely as they are different from each other.

Year by year the Canadian Rockies are becoming the most popular summer playground of the continent, due to the unparalleled beauty of the scenery, and the splendid opportunities for a real mountain holiday with riding, hiking, mountain climbing, swimming, golf, and tennis.

At Banff Springs Hotel, which will be open from June 13 to September 15, golf on a course that ranks with the best in the country is a chief attraction. Not to be forgotten, however, are the joys of riding and hiking to out-of-way places, mountain climbing, tennis on championship courts, fishing in tumultuous mountain streams and lakes that derive their rich colors from glaciers, and motoring, topped off by a swim in the sulphur or natural water pools and dancing in the large ball room.

Chateau Lake Louise, open from June 20 to September 15, is situated on Lake Louise, just opposite Victoria Glacier. Encircled by towering snow-clad peaks, it possesses a sheer breath-taking beauty and in addition attractions peculiarly its own. It is an excellent centre for sorties on horse-back or by foot to the scenic wonders of the district. Emerald Lake Chalet and bungalow camps at Radium Hot Springs, Yoho Valley, Lake Wapiti, Lake O'Hara and Moraine Lake will be open from June 20 to September 15. Off the beaten track, they combine a restful holiday with all the thrills of exploring a beautiful, untamed, mountainous land.

Five special events during the season will be: Calgary Stampede, July 6-11; Trail Riders' official outing, July 31-August 4; Trail Hikers' official outing, August 7-10; Indian Days at Banff, July 24-26; and Golf Week, with around 50 prizes up for competition, August 16 to 22.

A Moral Renaissance

In a world riven with fear and mistrust, with greed, hatred and suspicion rampant between individuals, between economic, political and social groups and between nations, there must be much inward searching of souls, much communing of hearts in an effort to find the cause of all this strife in the hope that thereby a remedy may be found and once again nations may live in peace and people may pursue the paths of progress with hope and confidence in the future.

That there is much travail, seething and unrest at home and abroad no one can gainsay, and until some key has been found which will unlock the gate to peace and prosperity, there can be no assurance of widespread happiness and contentment.

What is this key, millions of people are asking themselves and asking one another as they view with dismay the ruffled waters of a troubled humanity?

Perhaps the answer is to be found in the statement made in the British House of Lords on March 19, 1936 by the Marquess of Salisbury, scion of the famous prime minister of the same name in the late Victorian era, when he said:

"The cause of the world's state is not economic; the cause is moral. . . If I may use a phrase which is common in a great movement which is taking place in this country and elsewhere (The Oxford Group) what you want are God-guided personalities, which make God-guided nationalities, to make a new world. All the other ideas of economic adjustments are too small really to touch the centre of the evil."

If such a statement were made from the pulpit it would probably be regarded by many as more or less of a commonplace, something to be expected from such a source, but when it is made by a peer of the realm in such an institution as the House of Lords of Great Britain, it has more arresting and significant effect and serves to emphasize what might be considered a platitude if uttered by others elsewhere.

The minds of many great leaders are being directed in this channel as is evident from recent utterances of other great men whose words, whether their political or economic creeds are accepted, inspire serious thought and consideration.

A similar idea was expressed about the same time by President Roosevelt of the United States when he said:

"No greater thing could come today to our land than a revival of the spirit of religion—a revival that would sweep through the homes of the nation and stir the hearts of men and women of all faiths to a reassertion of their belief in God and their dedication to His will for themselves and for their world. I doubt if there is any problem—social, political or economic—that would not melt away before the fire of such a spiritual awakening."

Further testimony in support of this sentiment comes from Roger Babson, founder of the Babson Statistical organization, whose prophecies of future trends based on statistical data are regarded as authoritative over the entire continent. Mr. Babson recently said: "I expect a business revival. But only a spiritual awakening among the people can make it enduring."

These and other authorities and leaders in many countries of the world are unanimous in their opinion that before there can be a change in the national and international outlook it is essential that the viewpoint be changed and that, in effect, a moral renaissance is necessary for the national viewpoint can be none other than that of the individuals which constitute it.

It might perhaps be said: What is the use of Canadians adopting an unselfish or a lofty moral viewpoint so long as the peoples of other countries exemplify a diametrically opposed outlook? Such a restricted conception of purpose and duty could only serve to delay the consummation of the peace, concord and prosperity which the great majority desire to see. Reform and improvement must first come from within and spread outward like the ripples on the water from the cast stone.

Whether one agrees or not with the doctrines of the Oxford Group movement, one cannot but recognize that when they draw attention to the fact that there must first be a change in the individual before there can be a changed national viewpoint, they are hitting the bullseye.

Not Given Much Credit

But Wives Of Early Western Settlers Did Their Part

First white woman to the plains of Western Canada was Marie Galbo, who journeyed to the Red River in 1807 and later as far west as Edmonton, said E. A. Corbett, local historian, in an address at Saskatoon.

Talking on "Early Women of Western Canada," the speaker remarked early fur traders were notably reticent in giving credit to the women who accompanied them into new lands.

Mr. Corbett referred to the wife of David Thompson, one of the west's earliest explorers. Mrs. Thompson, he said, was a half-breed girl born at Ile a la Crosse in 1785, daughter of Patrick Small, one of the first white traders on the Churchill River. David Thompson married the girl when she was 14 years of age, and from then on she was his constant companion.

The speaker regretted Alexander Mackenzie had left little record of the part his wife played in his northern explorations.

"It is unfortunate," he continued, "that we know so little of the wives of the Selkirk Settlers, of such white women as the wife of Factor Rowland, who with her husband made old Fort Edmonton famous for its hospitality during the early years of the last century."

Asphalt In Petroleum

New Process May Make It Available For Paving Material

Oil wells which supply the gasoline used to move vehicles were pointed out today as a new source of paving material over which to move them.

All petroleum contains asphalt, but much of it has not been utilized for paving because of impurities. By a new vacuum process of extraction, demonstrated at the International Petroleum Exposition, pure asphalt falls like rain out of a cloud of vaporized petroleum. The still in which this is done was invented by Dr. Sidney Born, director of petroleum research at the University of Tulsa. The stills are towers made of heavy steel, 40 to 60 feet high and five to 22 feet in diameter.

In the interior of the towers are almost perfect vacuums. Into them is run petroleum from which gasoline and kerosene have been extracted. The liquid is shot into the vacuum tower at 6,500 degrees Fahrenheit, a temperature at which it instantly explodes into a cloud of vapor. Out of this vapor the asphalt falls completely pure in a coal black rain.

Collars Replace Riband

Holders of Certain Decorations Must Change When Ordered

Holders of certain orders were their "collars" when the King held the second levee of his reign at St. James' Palace. That was because the levee coincided with the birthday of Queen Mary, and notices announcing it bore the footnote: "N.B.—May 26 is collar day."

Collar days—there were 35 last year—are days on which, if decorations are worn, the riband of the Garter, the Thistle, the Bath, St. Michael and St. George, the Royal Victorian Order, and certain others are replaced by the collar of the order.

It is laid down in court regulations that collars must not be worn after sunset, except by the King's special command, so that they are rarely seen at public dinners or receptions. The collar—with the badge of the order suspended from it—is worn under the shoulder straps or epaulettes of uniforms, fastened with white satin bows, 1½ inches wide, at either side.

New Northern Sea Route

Navigators Of Soviet Have Made Mariners' Dreams Come True

A new sea route has been opened by Soviet navigators after three years' preparatory work. The Russian cargo vessels have succeeded in establishing a route to the Far East along the northern coasts of Europe and Asia. Such a way has been the dream of mariners for centuries though 10 years ago Nansen declared the idea to be impossible. An icebreaker fleet placed along the route has kept the channels open. More than 100 ships of the Soviet mercantile marine have the winter sailed along this roof of the world without a single mishap. Five radio stations keep vessels informed of weather and ice conditions.

Get Practical Training

High School In Jacksonville, Florida, Has Speeded Plan

In Jacksonville, Florida, high school boys and girls are getting training for future jobs in the community at the same time they attend school. They go to school part of the day and the other part they spend in the department store, advertising office, broadcasting station, theatre, hotel, tearoom, telephone office, learning practical work right on the job. Since the inauguration of the "Jacksonville Plan" about two years ago, 86 per cent of the vocational pupils have secured jobs upon graduation, and the plan is spreading to other cities of the south and west. The majority of the boys and girls leaving high school today cannot go to college, yet their training is directed toward that goal. When they apply for a job, the employer asks: "What can you do?" The answer is, "I don't know, but I can try anything." The Jacksonville graduate says: "I have had two years' experience in a bank," or in an auto-mechanic's shop, or in an other of the 43 different types of training positions in the community—Christian Science Monitor.

Admiral Of Yacht Squadron

King Edward Has Office First Held By Edward VII.

The King has become Admiral of the Royal Yacht Squadron, perhaps the most exclusive club in the world. Edward VII. was the first holder of the office of admiral, inaugurated at his accession in 1901. The club itself was established in 1812.

A story circulated that the famous royal racing cutter Britannia is to be made into a ship-breakers yard. However, enquiries showed this report incorrect. The King has given instructions of the craft be sold, but the remainder of the equipment is to be stored and no instructions have been given regarding the hull. The Britannia was built in 1893 for Edward VII. when he was Prince of Wales. The famous cutter won 231 first prizes and 129 other awards in 625 races in the course of 43 years of racing.

Future Of Quintuplets

Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe Hopes They Will Become Normal Young Women

Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe's hopes the Dionne quintuplets will become just as normal young women as girls born singly rest largely now on the women to be entrusted with the education of the famous babies who are now two years old. Admitting he had few fears left about the babies' health, Dr. Dafoe said he and the other guardians will shape the babies' lives until they are 19.

Phones In Canada

Canadians Do More Phoning Than Any Other People

Canadians do more telephoning than any other people in the world. Statistics released at Montreal show every man, woman and child in Canada held an average of 213.4 telephone conversations last year. The United States with 192.4, Denmark and Sweden were next in order. In Canada there are 11 phones for every 100 persons.

More Opportunity Required For Bright Students Without Means

Dr. R. C. Wallace, newly-appointed principal of Queen's University, stated at Ottawa that Canada needed more scholarships for her students. Dr. Wallace, president of the University of Alberta, succeeds Dr. W. Hamilton Fyfe, who accepted principalship of Aberdeen University. It should be possible for a student, irrespective of means, if he has the mental ability, to go right through school and college, said Dr. Wallace.

Regarding positions for university graduates, Dr. Wallace said: "People to-day are realizing more and more the importance of trying to help the trained person and many businessmen are recognizing this and doing all that lies in their power to prevent the trained person from going to waste."

"Sports have a real value in their correct place," he said. "We must remember that students do not go to the university for sports. That is not why universities were founded."

Was Noted Explorer

Harry Whitney, Of New York, Dies In Montreal Hospital

Harry Whitney, of New York, noted explorer and big game hunter, died in hospital at Montreal recently. He was born in 1873.

In 1909 and 1910 he was the centre of a controversy about discovery of the north pole. Mr. Whitney had gone north with Admiral Peary, and in 1909 both Admiral Peary and Dr. Frederick A. Cook returned from the Arctic and both claimed discovery of the north pole.

Doubt was cast on Dr. Cook's claims, and Mr. Whitney entered the controversy. He said he had gone hunting while with the Peary expedition and met Dr. Cook, who left instruments, clothing and other effects with him which Whitney cached.

He said Peary refused to take them aboard his vessel, the Roosevelt.

When the controversy broke it was intimated Mr. Whitney had destroyed Cook's records or had purposely left them behind. Mr. Whitney made only one statement, that Dr. Cook had told him of reaching the north pole and had sworn him to secrecy.

Mr. Whitney returned to the Arctic in three successive summers and continued to be a member of parties which went to the Arctic with Bartlett until 1930.

Japanese Warn China Not To Offer Opposition

Tientsin, China. — Japanese newspapers warned China it would be disastrous to oppose the Japanese army in north China following blowing up of a bridge and a portion of track on a railway line.

The Japanese newspapers, quoting sentiments expressed by one, said the sabotage was "clearly aimed against the Japanese army in north China. The situation generally is worse than in Boxer times. An attempt to overturn a Japanese military train is for China tantamount to suicide."

The newspapers also warned Chinese students, who recently declared an anti-Japanese strike, against the "instigation of untoward events," asserting "consequences disastrous to the entire Chinese people can only result."

Japanese sources indicated they believed the railroad bombings were a result of Tokyo's sending military reinforcements into this area. Chinese sources hinted the Japanese were back of it in an effort to create an "incident."

Unidentified persons blew up the Chumalingchen railway bridge on the Tientsin-Tientsin line near Tangku Friday night. Early Saturday the rails were blown up at Chankuei-chuan, six miles east of Tientsin.

The Tientsin-Mukden express was flagged, before it could plunge into the gap, by a Chinese trackwalker.

When Chinese railway officials attempted to send out a repair crew, however, Japanese army authorities intervened and refused to permit the repairmen to leave.

League Of Nations Society

Sir Robert Falconer Is Re-Elected President At Convention

Ottawa. — Sir Robert Falconer, former president of the University of Toronto, was re-elected president of the League of Nations Society, the society announced in a communique released at the end of its two-day convention.

John W. Duffe, editor of the Winnipeg Free Press, was elected honorary vice-president, and Dr. W. R. C. Wallace, newly-named president of Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., was added to the list of active vice-presidents.

The communique said the society directed a special plea to former soldiers and members of the active defence forces to help in carrying out its program for peace.

The society, said the communique, decided unanimously "respectfully to recommend that the government should appoint, at an early date, a parliamentary under-secretary of the department of external affairs, one of whose duties should be to see that more time is given in the house and in committees of the house to Canada's League of Nations and external relations."

Marketing Policy For Agriculture Is Needed In Canada

Calgary. — A national agricultural marketing policy was needed in Canada, Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Dominion minister of agriculture, told the 40th convention of the Western Stock Growers' Association at a banquet here.

Separate boards could be set up to market wheat, cheese, mutton, beef, wool and other products, but unless close supervision were maintained it would shortly be found that one was working to the detriment of another, he said.

It was a mistake to think that if systematic marketing of one product met with success, the same set-up would insure success of marketing another product, the minister said. There was only 2½ per cent. of the beef products raised in Canada ex-

Early Season At Churchill

Ice At Mouth Of River Has Broken Up

Churchill, Man. — Ice at the mouth of the Churchill river here has broken up and the river is clear from the bay to within a quarter of a mile from the north end of the government dock—a condition never known here before so early in the year.

The ice is some 10 feet in depth where it has broken off and considerable speculation has arisen as to the cause. Floe ice has also broken away from the shore line in the bay earlier than usual and traps are coming down from the north state floe ice is not as thick as in ordinary years.

Canadian Doctors In U.S.

Are The Medical Shock Troops Of This Continent

London, Ont. — Canadian doctors were "really the medical shock troops" of this continent, Lord Tweedsmuir, governor-general of Canada, told the Ontario Medical Association at a luncheon here.

"The great medical schools of the United States, I understand, such as John Hopkins, at Baltimore, and some of the chief clinics, are largely manned by Canadians. Everywhere in the United States," His Excellency added, "a Canadian doctor has a position of special prestige. I have been told—I need hardly say by a fellow countryman—that you occupy in the States very much the same position that a Scotsman does in England."

Sign Movie Contract

Quintuplets To Be Worth Nearly A Million By End Of 1938

Callander, Ont. — Because they are attractive motion picture actresses, the Dionne quintuplets have added $250,000 in cash to their bank balance, bringing it to about $500,000. The deposit put them on the road to becoming among the world's wealthiest young ladies.

Hon. David A. Croil, Ontario minister of welfare, but in this case a representative of the king, announced on the second birthday of the quintuplets that by the end of 1938 the little wards of His Majesty would be worth almost $1,000,000. He estimated the exact amount at $880,000.

One of the guardians, Mr. Croil said, had a contract had been signed for three feature films which, besides $250,000 paid in advance, would bring the children $50,000 before the end of 1938 and 10 per cent. of the net proceeds of the films.

Announcement of the contract was the big surprise of the second birthday party of the quintuplets. It was signed with Twentieth Century-Fox Films, the company which made "The Country Doctor," first feature film in which the babies appeared. The Dionne children were paid $50,000 for playing in that picture.

The films are to be made before the end of 1938. If any of the children should die before then, the $50,000 would not be paid but they now have the $250,000 and nothing can change that.

Their guardians signed the contract for the lump sum and additional money with the intention of safeguarding the future of the quintuplets, their parents and their five brothers and sisters, Mr. Croil said. There is enough money in the home bank account now to keep the 12 members of the family in comfort the rest of their lives.

All scenes in the three pictures will be made in the nursery in Callander, supervised by Dr. Allan Roy Daffoe, the country doctor who has been responsible for the health of the children since birth and who is one of their guardians.

Health of the quintuplets will remain the principal consideration in any business negotiations carried out by the guardians, said Mr. Croil.

China Protests

Refuses To Accept Explanations From Japan

Nanking. — China refused to accept Japan's explanation of why she poured thousands of additional troops into North China.

In answer to a protest from the Nationalist government, Tokyo explained the increasing numbers of Japanese subjects in North China made necessary a heavy reinforcement of her Tientsin garrison.

The foreign office here issued a statement disclosing it has instructed its ambassadors at the various capitals to inform the governments to which they are accredited that China is unable to accept the reasons Japan has given for augmenting the troops.

In addition, the government was understood to have forwarded a new protest to Tokyo.

Trans-Canada Highway

Completion Of Section In B.C. To Cost Two Million Dollars

Ottawa. — Completion of the Big Bend section of the trans-Canada highway in the Rocky Mountains will cost about $2,000,000, Hon. T. A. Crerar, minister of the interior, told the House of Commons. Only about 79 miles remain to be built but it is costly work.

About $400,000 will be spent on the road this year, Mr. Crerar told H. C. Green (Cons., Vancouver South) who urged speed in completing a road link between British Columbia and the prairies.

Appeal For Assistance

Foreigners Are Besieged By Natives In Ethiopia

Khartoum, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan. — A small band of foreigners, including a number of missionaries, was reported besieged by 3,000 Ethiopian warriors at Saio, in western Ethiopia near the Sudan border.

"A chiefdom who has proclaimed himself king of Wallega province is at the head of the tribal force, which comprises deserters from the ranks of Emperor Haile Selassie's disbanded armies, despatches said.

An appeal for assistance received by British authorities said the native governor of Saio had fled and the nearest column of Italian troops was three days' march distant.

The cryptic message from the town about 43 miles east of the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan frontier and 56 miles northwest of Gore, read as follows:

"The governor has fled. A column of Italian troops is three days' march distant from us. If it arrives in time our lives and goods will be saved. We are at the mercy of rebel attacks."

Saio is about 270 miles west of Addis Ababa and only 30 miles south of Gambela, Ethiopian city leased to Sudan authorities in the three-power treaty of 1906. Gambela is an important caravan and trading centre with a comparatively large foreign population.

Coronation Date Set

Centuries-Old Ceremony Will Take Place May 12, 1937

London. — Prime Minister Baldwin has set May 12, 1937, as the day when King Edward VIII. will be formally invested with the authority of the British throne in a centuries-old coronation ceremony.

The announcement was made in a special issue of the official gazette. The date was officially proclaimed on May 29 at colorful ceremonies in the heart of London.

Active preparations will begin at once for the vast array of pageantry and ceremonial that will mark the event which will reach its climax in Westminster Abbey when the Archbishop of Canterbury places the famous jewelled crown upon the King's head.

Logan, Utah. — For 27 years Mrs. Annie S. Dickson taught school to send five of her six children through college. Now the 61-year-old mother is completing her own college work, financed by her children. This month she will receive a bachelor of science degree from Utah State Agricultural College.

Big Road Building Program Into Mining Areas Of Canada

Ottawa. — A program of road building into metal mining areas of Ontario, Quebec, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and British Columbia will be undertaken in co-operation with the provinces, Mines Minister T. A. Crerar told the House of Commons.

An appropriation of $1,500,000 to cover the Dominion cost was passed. A rough estimate of the expenditure follows: Ontario and Quebec, $325,000 to $340,000 each; British Columbia, $300,000; Manitoba, $260,000, and Saskatchewan $80,000 to $90,000.

The minister said a small sum would be spent in Alberta, perhaps at Waterways, the end of steel in the north.

The money will be spent on a 2-1 ratio with the provinces, the Dominion putting up $2 for every $1 spent by the provinces. Preliminary negotiations have been in progress some time and agreement reached with the provinces on the ratio of expense.

The roads will be built into developed areas where there are producing mines, Mr. Crerar said, but the exact routes have not been settled.

Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, thought the roads should be built in areas likely to benefit from new development rather than in areas where there were established mines. A producing mine hardly needed special assistance but road building in exploration areas would help to bring to light new wealth.

Mr. Crerar gave the house a brief account of the value of the mining industry to Canada. He said the first suggestion of a geological survey was made in Upper Canada 100 years ago by William Lyon Mackenzie. The first actual survey was not made for some years and it was not until 1897 that federal government activity in connection with mining became important.

The total value of all mines produced in Canada in 1935 was $308,000,000, said Mr. Crerar.

Livestock Industry

Co-operation From Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Board

Medicine Hat, Alta. — With the object of sponsoring development of the livestock industry in the short grass area of the west, the Short Grass Stockgrowers' Association, representing 30,000 square miles of territory, was organized here.

John Wallace, of Regina, chairman of the prairie farm rehabilitation board, attended the organizing meeting and promised whole-hearted co-operation.

The new association will co-operate with other livestock organizations for the general welfare of ranchers.

Trans-Canada Air Route May Be Established Soon

Ottawa. — Hon. Ian MacKenzie, defence minister, disclosed the government will start consideration in a month or two of the trans-Canada air route, declaring whether publicly-owned or private aircraft will be used on it.

He made the announcement during a heated house discussion of Canada's militia in which one member said Canada had a "bow-and-arrow" army and it was disclosed the nation does not own 10 modern fighting planes in good order.

The minister gave his opinion that six months notice to possible airways contractors was necessary in order to permit them to train pilots and purchase machines.

The trans-Canada route will be used by mail and passengers across the country. Airports and emergency fields have been built in recent years, some of them by men in relief camps. Many of the fields have radio direction-finding equipment.

Grant MacNeil (C.C.F., Vancouver North) said too much money was being spent on defence generally and particularly military flying, rather than civil aviation.

Canada had a "bow-and-arrow" army and tin-pot navy and it was useless to keep spending millions of dollars on them. Young men could not obtain technical aviation schooling in Canada because not enough money was being spent on civil aviation by the government.

Although there were many fine flying clubs in Canada, officials at Ottawa were "pining off obsolete equipment" on them. Civil aviation was being sacrificed for military aviation.

Mr. MacKenzie said it did not help Canada to poke fun at Canada's army, navy and air force. Aspirations were being cast repeatedly but this reacted on the country as a whole which was trying to build up its forces for its own defence. There was nothing militaristic about it.

Mr. MacNeil said the defence forces did not reflect the millions of dollars spent on them.

The Canadian army was one of the best equipped in the world, continued the minister. All technical changes and improvements were known to headquarters, but they were not adopted for one simple reason—there was not the money.

Hon. Greer Stirling, former minister of national defence, said when Mr. MacNeil suggested Canada had not got value for the money spent on defence in the last few years he was not speaking in accordance with facts. He knew Mr. MacNeil reflected a certain opinion in some military circles, but in the face of difficult conditions the department had kept abreast of the times and maintained its properties and services. He agreed fully with the policy outlined by Mr. MacKenzie and with his defence of the department.

In answer to a question from Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, Mr. MacKenzie said Brigadier Clyde Caldwell of Ottawa had been appointed master-general of the ordnance because that office assumed importance. His duties were to survey the industrial and economic resources of Canada with a view to mobilization in the event of trouble. Similar officers were functioning in all British dominions and it was thought desirable to get a fully qualified officer such as Brigadier Caldwell, who had been in the army for many years and was well under way. It might some day be necessary to produce all the arms, munitions and equipment needed by Canadian forces in Canada and by public agencies. The government wished to be prepared for such a contingency.

Newspapers Are Best

(Granbrook Courier)

Heard some good arguments at a meeting not long ago in favor of newspaper advertising as against dodgers or posters tacked up around town. Dodgers had been put out announcing this particular meeting, but this man had not seen them. He goes from his home to his office in his car, and from his office back to his home in the same manner. In driving his car he has no time to observe or read notices along the way, slow down signs and stop signs having to do with traffic regulations being his only reading matter en route. But the newspaper goes to his house and is read at a time when he is able to concentrate on its contents, the same as the housewife when she settles down to read the advertisements.

Football and Baseball Teams Suffer Defeat

Coleman football and baseball teams were given rough treatment by their opponents over the week-end causing them to wonder what it was all about.

The football team travelled to Fernie on Sunday and before a large number of their home town fans were given a severe drubbing by Kimberley by a 60 score. Coleman held their opponents to one goal in the first half but became completely demoralized in the second, Kimberley taking advantage of this to score five goals. This is Coleman's second league game and a total of eleven goals have been scored against them. The outlook for the future is not so bright unless the team bolsters its defensive strength.

Without the services of four of his regulars, Angelo Gentile led his baseball team to Michel on Sunday where they were given a 7-4 defeat by the B. C. team. A return game is expected in the near future.

The boarders at the Empire hotel are feeling quite proud of their home, now that it has been newly painted and the exterior given a fresh coating of cement. George Graham handled the contract, and made a very good job. The Journal suggests that the proprietor and staff and the boarders should now have their photographs taken in front of the house, and published, so that a permanent record may be had for future generations to gaze on.
